

January 29, 1973

of statements that I don't think are based upon fact. I have no objection to them. I think we ought to decide now--what do you want to do with this Executive Board. You've increased it from five to nine members and all of a sudden the only thing that is in controversy is Senator Carpenter. You knew when you give me this chairmanship I was not going to set on dead center and I presume that you elected me for that purpose to move this body in the area in which you have collectively indicated you wanted to move. Now if you want to put that in reverse, all you got to do, for example, is to indicate to this body that's what you want to do. If the new members see we're moving too fast, I think what we ought to do is to read every bill on General File word for word so that they can digest it as well as the older members. I think on Final Reading we ought to slow this thing down. We're moving too fast. This morning, for example, we found one error which is the first error in about a year but we found one error, and I would say from this time on I would think that we would say to the clerk, read slow and be deliberate. We're not interested in saving time. We're here to represent all the people, and before we vote we want to know in every case what we are voting for. That's a commendable attitude, and I'd like to help you adjust to that point. So from this time on if no one has any objection or even if you do, when we get on General File we are going to read the bills, all the bills.

SENATOR BARNETT: May I have a point of order please, Mr. Chairman. I don't think I asked Senator Carpenter to go into the Final Reading of this.

SENATOR CARPENTER: But I've got it on my chest, It's as good a time as anywhere else.

SENATOR BARNETT: I'll tell you--what I've still--you've still haven't answered the question.

SENATOR CARPENTER: What is your question?

SENATOR BARNETT: What I'm trying to get you to do is to find out if the Executive Council is going to be the investigating body for this legislative council or are we going to follow the rule where the Committee on Committees is set up already to do that. That's what it looks like you have in the second part of the first section.

SENATOR CARPENTER: As I remember the law as it now exists, I've only read this just now. The Executive Board can within its discretion investigate anything pertaining to the state of Nebraska. The Committee can break itself down into committees of any size they so desire. Now as I understand the rules as it now stands, the Standing Committee will be the other area of study and investigate anything you want to identify it with. We will have, we will not have anymore interim study committees and that the Standing Committee be referred all of those things in which the Executive Council in their judgment don't desire to participate in. And I would presume in so far as I'm concerned as a chairman, I think almost everything with some few exceptions ought to be referred to the Standing Committee.

SENATOR BARNETT: I was referring to that section, I've read it once before where the Committee on Committees may appoint other Select Committees when authorized by the Legislature. Then it goes on, No investigating committee of the Legislature shall be created except by Resolution which shall set forth. So I'm asking you, I guess, are we eliminating Section 22 of Rule 3 by adopting the second part of your 1st section. That's on Page 18 of the Rule Book.

SENATOR CARPENTER: I can't answer offhand. I don't think so.

SENATOR BARNETT: Well, to me it would seem that's that what it would do and we may disagree at this point. I, also, have another question in Section 2, if you would care to yield. Down